JANUARY EDITORIAL

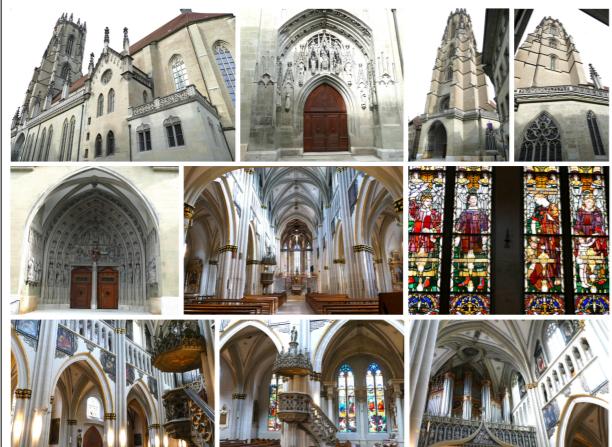

In this first month of the year, as everywhere else, snow has blanketed our chapel in its winter veil.

For a fleeting moment, aided by a cold snap, it has flooded our landscape and whitened our orchard.

Its icy air creates an ephemeral nature that delights our eyes, but should not make us forget, in these times, those who cannot find refuge by a fireplace and who often have no shelter other than a simple cardboard box.

Monsieur Mr. François Aubey, mayor of Mézidon Vallée d'Auge, during his speech with Henri-Jean Lepetit, president of the association Les Amis de la Chapelle de Saint-Maclou.

A large crowd gathered to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of our association.

Twenty years of passion for a chapel—this is how we can summarize the convictions that drive and sustain our commitment to its well-being and preservation, so proud are we of and heirs to the heritage of our Pays d'Auge region.

We hope that the next two decades will live up to our ambitions and that, alongside the municipality of Mézidon-Vallée-d'Auge, we will be able to preserve and promote this thousand-year-old building.

During this anniversary celebration, Mr. François Aubey, Mayor of Mézidon-Vallée-d'Auge, expressed his attachment and support.

It goes without saying that we eagerly anticipate working with his team to shape the future of our chapel.

Sheltered under two Barnum marquees graciously made available to us by the municipality of Mézidon Vallée d'Auge, our guests had nothing but compliments for the flavors of our gourmet buffet prepared by the cordon bleu members of our Board of Directors.
